Press Release

BUCK & HICKMAN PROVIDE UNIQUE VMI SOLUTION TO LEADING AEROSPACE BUSINESS

A unique VMI solution provided by Buck & Hickman, the UK's leading distributor of tools, maintenance and health and safety products, has given leading aerospace company Aircelle, part of the Safran Group, reduced costs and improved consumption control.

Buck & Hickman has worked with Aircelle for six years, working to implement a range of VMI solutions. Currently, the company uses four banks of ProStock Vending Machines, five ProStock units and ten MagLock cabinets. This has reduced product consumption by 24.8%.

Mark Peers, Head of Value Added Services at Buck & Hickman, said: "Aircelle are long standing customers and our team has worked with them to provide a unique solution which gives excellent control over stock levels. We're pleased that Aircelle has seen such benefits from the implementation of VMI with a 24.8% reduction in the consumption of indirect consumables."

Buck & Hickman provides VMI, Vending and RFID tool control and management solutions to help companies gain better control over their consumable stock and durable items whilst reducing their product consumption, all to help operational efficiency.
