FELTHAM COMPANY REWARDS TOP STUDENTS

The Feltham branch of Buck & Hickman has helped to reward Andrew Stachurski, a motor vehicle maintenance student at West Thames College, who's been crowned the Level 1 Student of the Year.

Andrew was presented with his award along with a Buck & Hickman own-brand Roebuck socket, spanner and pliers set. Andrew was chosen as a star apprentice due to his consistent hard work and efforts to develop his skills further.

Graham Miles, Branch Manager of Buck & Hickman Feltham, said: "Supporting apprentices is vital to ensure the future of our industry, especially at a time when the economy is in real need of a boost from fresh skills and talent. We wish all the participating apprentices at West Thames College the best of luck and hope our support will contribute to a number of bright careers in the engineering and maintenance industry."

Hugh Clarke, Associate Curriculum Manager for the Motor Vehicle Department was responsible for the event. "I would like to thank all the learners, parents and guardians who attended the inaugural Motor Vehicle Awards Ceremony," he said. "It's important to celebrate the individual success of the winners, but also to take a moment to recognise the achievements of all our learners in completing their course at West Thames College. For those who will continue their studies with us next year, and for those who are entering the world of work, I wish them every success."

Buck & Hickman also runs its own 'Apprentice of the Year' Award for local colleges. Any college or company with an apprentice scheme is eligible to enter Buck & Hickman's 'Apprentice of the Year Award'.
